

Traditional Thai Massage

Traditional Thai Massage uses no oils or lotions. The recipient remains clothed during a there is constant body contact between the giver and receiver, but rather than rubbing on muscles, the body is compressed, pulled, stretched and rocked.